HD Design is well-known for Scandinavian high-quality design products. Ideal for all kinds of business environments. Production at our new factory in China combined with development and production in Denmark ensures value for money and the best price-quality combination on the market.

HD Design is an international brand supplier specializing in organizing products and document handling. Best-known is the wide range of pocket displays. The Scandinavian look of the products has experienced great success in the international markets. Focus on a simple yet stylish design, in neutral business colors like black, grey or steel has proven successful worldwide.

New products

The product range is now extended to include a flexible presentation line with a suction disc mounting solution which makes the products easy to mount and move. The unique design makes the system the most space saving desktop display in the market. InfoLine is the name of the new range and includes a range of solutions recommended for the office, reception desk or in the specialist store. The glass-clear look of the products within the range adds a light and elegant impression to your document presentation.

HD Design is an innovative company with a new product development focus. The unique pocket range has been extended to include greyscale pockets and a special selection of pockets, not seen in the market before. Likewise the accessories program has been extended now including multipurpose magnetic pockets.

Focus on the multitasker

You may wonder why the HD Design products designed for manual document handling are still a success in a market dominated by information technology and computers. The answer is that time is a scarce resource and the users need to be able to multitask.

The document display and all of its pages function as "computer screen number 2" filled with information that is used continuously. While working with the computer you still need to look up information. Avoid the inconvenience by flipping back and forth between computer programs, organize the information as printed documents instead. In the product range of HD Design you will find a solution for all kinds of office work environments.
